We are pleased to have provided antarctic materials (list enclosed) to the Central Intelligence Agency for use in an exhibit.

The National Science Foundation will be participating in a Christchurch, New Zealand, "Know your airport" open house on 19 February 1984. This public exhibition is expected to attract as many as 50,000 people. One feature of the open house will be a display of U.S. antarctic aircraft, field equipment and installations, and scientific achievements.

The National Science Foundation would like to borrow your exhibit for use at this open house. The items will be displayed near the U.S. airplanes, and security will be provided by members of the U.S. antarctic program. We do not require that your agency be identified in this exhibit.

Sincerely,

Guy G. Guthridge
